WWP Mission Statement (excerpts from WWW web site)

The mission of the Wounded Warrior Project (WWP) is to raise public awareness and enlist the public's aid for the needs of severely injured service men and women, to help severely injured service members to aid and assist each other, and to provide unique, direct programs and services to meet their needs.

WWP accomplishes this mission by providing programs and services to severely injured active service members and their families during the critical time between their initial rehabilitation while on active duty and their eventual transition to civilian life. WWP employs staff with over 55 years of combined experience in providing direct services to active duty service members and disabled veterans, including benefits counseling, representation before the department of veterans affairs, bringing public attention to the needs of wounded service members, and advocating for regulatory and statutory changes beneficial to veterans and active duty service members.

There are many military service organizations that provide services to active duty service members and their families, and many veteran service organizations that provide services and opportunities for fraternal interaction to veterans upon their discharge from service. However, few organizations devote their resources to assisting the severely wounded during this critical period. WWP fills this vital, unmet need, bringing comfort, support, and aid to severely injured service members and their families during this challenging time in their lives.

You can make a difference in the life of a Wounded Warrior!

The war on terrorism is unlike anything the United States experienced before and unless you wear the uniform or have a relative in the armed services, the average citizen has had to sacrifice little in this war effort. This is your opportunity to do something to help the brave men and women who have had their lives unalterably changed by serving as the first line of defense in the war against terrorism. 100% of all receipts will be donated to the WWP. Please join me in supporting this worthy organization.

Thank you,
